

As low-level rotation intensifies, streamwise vorticity generated baroclinically along the gust front feeds into the updraft.

